BONUS SHOWDOWN PREDICTED TO-DAY

Bitter Debate Seems Certain if Republicans Adopt a Gag Rule.

DEMOCRATS ARE ALERT

Party Leaders Ready to Force Stand on Bill if Minority Evades It.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. New York Herald Bureau, Washington, July 4.

The bonus issue, which has been smoldering in the Senate for several days, may be brought squarely before that body to-morrow. If Chairman McCumber of the Finance Committee makes a move to invoke cloture during the tariff debate, as now proposed.

Democratic Senators made no secret of their displeasure at the proposal of the Republican leaders to adopt, if possible, a gag rule; and any gesture in that direction will lead to an ugly debate. One reason advanced by the Republican leaders for the necessity for a cloture is the desire to insure passage of the bonus bill at this session of Congress.

Democratic Senators—some in favor of and some opposed to the bonus bill—say if the Republicans are so anxious to get rid of that measure and are so perturbed over the possibility of it being shelved at this session, they will relieve them of their anxiety by forcing the matter before the Senate. At any rate there is a strong inclination among the Democratic Senators to pursue that course. Many, including Senator Walsh (Mass.), are firm in the belief that the measure is a strong inclination among the Democratic Senators to pursue that course. Many, including Senator Walsh (Mass.), are firm in the belief that the measure is a strong inclination among the Democratic Senators to pursue that course.

See Enthusiasm Waning. Some Senators believe that Chairman McCumber has lost some of his enthusiasm for the bonus bill since his overwhelming defeat in the recent primary election in his State—North Dakota.

Senator McCumber's defeat and the fate of the bonus advocates in the elections in Iowa, Indiana and Pennsylvania have clearly indicated to Senators who are candidates for reelection that the bonus bill as a vote getter acts as a boomerang. They are beginning to realize that the club which the American Legion has been wielding over the heads of the members of Congress is a mere imitation of a "big stick."

Recent events have changed the Senatorial attitude toward the bonus bill to a perceptible extent, so that when the measure is brought before the Senate there likely will be sensational developments. The demand of some twelve or fourteen Senators that the McCumber bill be thrown into the discard and a measure framed to meet the requirements of the President have complicated matters.

The fact is, there is such a divergence of opinion concerning the kind of bill which should be framed and the means of financing the bonus bill that it is

SIGNERS' HEIRS DENOUNCE MEDDLING IN U. S. HISTORY

Vote Unanimous Protest Against Use in the Schools of Text Books Purporting 'Falsely' to Give 'Other Side' of Revolution.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PHILADELPHIA, July 4.—Two resolutions were unanimously adopted yesterday by the Society of Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence bearing on the Sequel-Centennial and on school histories which misinterpret men and events of the Revolutionary period. Both resolutions were offered by John Calvert, secretary of the society, who explained the latter as condemning writers of histories which present what is falsely called "a truthful presentation of the other side of the case."

The first resolution declares the Sequel-Centennial should be held in 1926, the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and the second, deprecating the distortion of historical events in textbooks used in the public schools, is as follows:

It is resolved as the sense of this meeting of the Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence that, while the members would view with apprehension any tampering with the histories of the United States used in the public schools in the interest of any country, people, races or politics, at the same time they cannot believe that what is falsely called a truthful presentation of the other side of the case demands that histories put in the hands of American children should boldly misinterpret the men and measures, manners and methods and the great events of the Revolution and the subsequent periods leading up to the Constitution in 1787—this misrepresentation and misinterpretation being accomplished, (1) by the belittling of the significance of the Declaration of Independence itself; (2) by disparaging and ridiculing signers of the Declaration and leaders in the Revolution, impugning their motives, holding them up to the contempt of the youth of to-day; and (3) by ignoring some of the most celebrated of our Revolutionary personages, who gave all, even life, for the country's great cause.

questionable if the majority of the Senate can be whipped into line in favor of any particular measure.

Upsets Democrats' Plan.

The announcement that the Treasury Department has received no assurance from any of the foreign governments that they will be in a position to pay lack any interest or principal of their war loan in the near future, has upset the plans of the Democratic Senators who favor a bonus. They intended to make a drive to have that fund diverted to the bonus fund, and they were laboring under the impression that it would be an easy matter for the Treasury Department to finance the bonus bill in that way.

When the bonus measure does come before the Senate some of its advocates will find it difficult to justify their support, since they have been apostles of economy in legislation. Considerable criticism has been aimed at such Senators as Capper (Kan.), millionaire leader of the farm bloc, and Poindestler (Wash.) because of the apparent inconsistency of their courses. Senator Capper has pointed out the absolute necessity for economy in Government expenditures and the fact that the nation faces a big deficit. On the heels of that warning he is apparently willing to saddle the Government with an unnecessary expense of $5,000,000,000, to be used largely as political bait.

Senator Poindestler, during the debate on the naval appropriation bill, made a hard fight for economy, pointing out the necessity of saving every penny. He was largely instrumental in closing down the naval experimental station established during the war at the cost of several millions on the theory that it no longer was necessary.

Similar inconsistencies are to be found in the record of nearly every other bonus advocate, and the opponents of the bill intend to flaunt them before their faces when the issue comes before the Senate.

CONGRESSMAN'S PLANE CRASHES INTO A TREE

Herrick Then Takes Train to Continue His Campaign.

MEMPHIS, July 4.—Manuel Herrick, member of Congress from the eighth Oklahoma district, was bruised but otherwise unhurt, according to meagre advices received here, when the airplane in which he was flying from Memphis to Perry, Okla., today crashed into a tree near Hamlin, Ark., wrecking the machine and interfering with the congressman's plans for an aerial electioneering tour of his district in the interest of his candidacy for reelection.

SEEKING LODGE'S SEAT, WOULD EXPEL NEWBERRY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 4.—Russell A. Wood, a former Representative, to-day announced the platform upon which he will contest the Republican nomination for United States Senator with Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Joseph Walker, former Speaker of the Massachusetts House.

Mr. Wood, who said he was pledged to "progressive legislation," announced that he stood for modification of the McCumber-Fordney tariff bill, the annihilation of the farm bloc, abolition of the direct primary for nomination of Presidential candidates and the expulsion from the Senate of Senator Newberry of Michigan.

Whoever Allows Himself to Get out of patience comes often to the falling-off place before he is aware of it.

By indulging in temper and saying cruel words a man loses control of himself, in his tongue grows keener and more bitter and he effects nothing and hurts forever the man he attacks.

Do not turn friendship into hatred by hasty speech.

"By conquering yourself you have conquered me," were the words accompanying the capitulation of a great Indian chief to one of our Colonial governors.

Think it over.

A new velvety Crepe de chine

Soft and fine as the best grades of crepe de chine. But with a difference in the finish. For the sheen which one usually sees on crepe de chine has been toned down in this one to give it a soft, velvety appearance.

We might say of it that it is to other crepes de chine what platinum silver is to polished silver.

$2.85 the yard

40 in. wide. In black, navy blue, midnight blue, burgundy red, taupe, tete de negre, gold-brown and wood brown, silver gray, jade, faun, champagne, beige and turquoise blue.

40 inches wide.

MUSIC

Let the music of a good piano bring sea and mountain and forest right into your home this summer. Music can do this—as nothing else can. Do it more satisfactorily, sometimes, than the faraway places themselves; for mental pictures are always flawless.

America's widest choice of good pianos is here, in the Wanamaker Piano Salons, the New York home of America's finest and oldest piano—CHICKERING.

Upright pianos, many styles, begin at $325.

Grand pianos, small and large, begin at $635.

Player-pianos, many styles, begin at $365.

AMPICO pianos; the incomparable; begin at $800.

Old pianos taken in part exchange for new ones.

"Why should my feet be supported?" asks a man

We were explaining the difference between Anatomik Shoes and various other shoes that permit the feet to wobble around in loose, disjointed fashion.

"When I wear slippers my feet feel good," he continued. "Why wear shoes that hold the feet in a rigid position?"

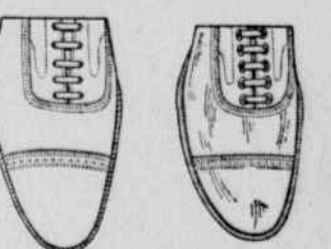

BECAUSE—

The feet of man were not intended to walk on hard pavements.

The Indians got along very nicely with moccasins—when they walked on soft earth, because the foot crushed into the earth and found its own support.

Sidewalks and pavements are vastly different. Hard cement will not shape itself to the curves of the foot.

And Anatomik Shoes are built to give the foot the right kind of support under present-day living conditions.

The proof

—exists in the fact that ANATOMIK SHOES relieve and prevent many of the common foot ailments that hundreds of people—men, women and children—suffer with.

ANATOMIK SHOES are sold in New York exclusively at Wanamaker's.

A Bank's Usefulness To Business Men

Banks have two supreme tasks to perform for the business world:

To gather money from many sources and safeguard it for the owners.

To lend money for business needs of every legitimate kind.

Bankers Trust Company has been performing both tasks for many years. It counts itself fortunate to be in a position to loan money on favorable terms for worthy business enterprises, as well as to act as depository for funds.
